COAL, COAL, COAL!—The subscriber is now receiving his supply of the article so well known as the Butler coal, and which has given such general satisfaction for the last three or four years. He has also on hand coal broken expressly for

of rupture, or hernia, suitable to all sizes and ages for men, women, and children.

This truss has the superiority of any heretofor in use: first, on account of its durability and clear in use: first, on account of its durability and cleanliness, the rupture pad leing of glass, (in any shape or form,) the adjustments of the springs to suit the action of the body, and calculated to be fitted to either side. The rupture pad (glass) has a double motion: first, by revolving on its own axis; second, by the lever to which it is attached, and where said lever is connected to the main spring. The superiority which this truss has over others is obvious in this, that it is most effectual in retaining the parts in their proper place, and making due pressure; it is always clean; its shape or form is durable, which in stuffed pads is not the case, (as they become saturated with the flaids from the body.) The umbilical truss is unsurpassed, being so adapted as to remain perfectly passed, being so adapted as to remain perfectly passed, being so adapted as to remain periectly secure where applied.

As a proof of its efficacy of the great number that has been vended, not one of the owners has been dissatisfied, but have spoken in the most commenda-ble terms of it.

CERTIFICATES.

BALTIMORE, May 15, 1846.

Mr. C. C. REINHARDT: I have examined and used to some extent the truss of Mr. Charles C. Reinhardt. It is an instrument well adapted to treatment of hernia, and especially the accomplishment of the radical cure. I do not hesitate to recommend it as an ingenious and useful instrument.

BALTIMORE, May 14, 1846.

The hernial truss, invented by Mr. C. C. Its introduction into use, if judiciously selected and applied, I doubt not would give general satisfaction.

25 ACRES of woodland, two and a half miles north of the Capitol for sale.—
I will sell, on accommodating terms, 25 acres of land on Rock Creek road, two and a half miles north I will sell, on account of the Capitol, delightfully situated, and embracing several building sites, commanding a view of this city, and of the country for several miles around. It might be advantageously divided in four or five parcels, and would make beautiful residences for persons doing business in Washington. The place is very healthy; the neighborhood the best in the District. The road to it is excellent, and without toll. The distance (fifteen minutes ride) very convenient. The wood upon the land will pay the price asked for it.

Medical approbation of the Rose Oin ment for Tetter.

A LTHOUGH the superiority of the preparation over all others as fully established, the proprietors take pleasure in laying before the public the following certificate from a respectable physician, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Baugh, having found in this remedy that relief for a tedious and disagreeable affection which the means within the range of his profession failed to afford, has not besitated to give it his approbation, although the prejudices and interests of robation, although the prejudices and interests int profession are opposed to secret remedies:

"I was recently troubled with a tedious herpetic eruption, which covered nearly one side of my face, and extended over the ear. Mr. Vaughan, proprietor of the rose ointment, observing my face, insisted on my trying his preparation, of which he handed me a jar. Although, in common with the members of my profession, I discountenance and disapprove of the numerous nostrums palmed upon the public by ignorant pretenders, I feel in justice bound to except the rose ointment from that class of medicines, and to give it my approbation, as it entirely cured the eruption, although it had resisted the usual applications.

CITY Infirmary and Dispensary.—The directors of this institution take great pleasure in announcing to its patrons and friends, that it has undergone many material alterations and improvements calculated to add to the comforts of the pa-ments calculated to add to the comforts of the patients. The infirmary has been divided in such manner as to separate the several classes of patients, viz: white and colored, male and female; and, from its position and regulations, proffers retirement and privacy as far as can be wished.

Two resident physicians are in constant attendance, and the infirmary is visited daily at 11 o'clock, a. m., by the attending physician and surgeon, who also devote as much time as is necessary for prescriptions, operations, and dispensing of medicines for all such dispensary patients as may be in waiting. Besides these attendants, the directors have been fortunate in securing the services of the SIS-TERS OF CHARITY, who reside in the infirmary, conduct its affairs, and give their undivided attenconduct its affairs, and give their undivided atten-tion to the nursing and comforts of the sick.

Private patients may enter the infirmary under the special care of any one of its directors, but other-wise will comply with the regulations of the institu-disease from marsh effluvis, or from a too copious use of ardent spirits, or from a vitiated state of the bile, these pills will assuredly counteract it.

They are highly recommended to travellers by sea or land, and may be made use of with safety without change of diet, and in situations where no exercise can be used. They will be found particularly valuable for preventing diseases incidental to hot climates; they deterge and cleanse viscid humors, open obstructions, and promote the secretion of good bile, operate as an easy cathartic, as a powerful diuretic, and as a disphoretic.

Dr. Dyott, under the strong conviction of the power of his pills to relieve the afflicted, recommends the use of them to those who are in health as well as the afflicted, at leace once a fortnight, during the spring and summer months, in which he feels assured those who attend to his advice will find the benefit they seek.
